the detail
makes the difference.

Sytan

It's all in the detail.

One hears it often said:
"Well, I'm a big picture person".

But then where would we be without detail?

Because, while the big picture is often the thing that draws us in, the detail is almost always what makes it. And meticulous attention to detail is at the very heart of every Sylan washroom.

All six materials bring luxury to the smallest details of the smallest room: Sylan Glass reflects your contemporary style; Solid Surface brings a real sense of permanence; Real Wood Veneer reminds us of the timeless beauty of timber.

Sylan ColourCoat and High Gloss stun in any standard RAL colour; High Pressure Laminate maintains its look for years. While the hydraulic closure and unique pivot system with invisible fixing confirm that no one single detail is overlooked.

glass

An obvious choice for that most personal of spaces.

No kidding. No, really.

Glass can create the most stylish impression in any corporate washroom. And Sylan's glass range combines a trio of techniques to deliver enriched colour and absolute privacy.

The face displays the shimmering reflective quality of glass with its naturally smooth, easy to clean, incredibly hardwearing and scratch resistant surface. The colour depth achieved is thanks to not one but two layers of vitrified paint on the reverse. And bonding the glass to a solid colour matched background makes it impossible to see through, eliminating even the slightest backlit shadow.

Superior, then, in every way.

Quite clearly.

Making an impact. And able to take one.

With its highly reflective surface quality, our glass range undeniably makes an impact.

While its toughened safety glass, being eight times stronger than ordinary glass, can certainly take one. You'll see the same glass on leading edge, breathtaking, glass bottomed bridges.

And it's not just our glass that's subjected to the toughest examination. Our technical team worked tirelessly, day and night, for a whole twelve months, refining the bonding technique that we use to fuse the glass to the background panels.

Now that's what we call attention to detail.

The perfection of wood. Direct from the maker.

Nothing highlights
Mother Nature's attention to detail
better than the natural beauty
of wood.

Supplied direct from the maker herself,
the mellow glow of wood has warmed
our hearths, and our hearts, for centuries.

Enchanting generations with the distinctive grain that defines the character of each and every variety of timber.

And Sylan can perfectly match that character to your own personal style,
from the imposing demeanour of fumed oak to the new world freshness of American white oak.

A PERFECT MATCH THAT'S QUITE UNMATCHED.

Some things in life simply can't be matched.

Such as the intricately beautiful grain of wood.

But wait.

Because a Sylan washroom in meticulously crafted wood veneer, from right-on-trend retro teak to sophisticated fumed oak, enables perfect slip matching and the infinite repetition of colour, texture and pattern.

With the grain so seamlessly matched that the impression is of a tree some eight metres across to create the most stunningly smooth continuum in a run of flush-fronted cubicles.

Simply, in a word, unmatched!

TOUCHING IS BELIEVING.

With Solid Surface, seeing is believing. And so is touching. Of course, the first thing you'll notice is the bold, defined, architectural look that catches the light so beautifully. But then come closer.  Run your fingers across the inviting surface. It feels smooth, tactile, solidly reassuring and almost uncannily warm to the touch. That's the special touch of quality we bring to everything we do.

Sylan Solid Surface is a luxuriously strong and durable acrylic material that simply demands to be touched. And, here too, our obsessive attention to detail is in evidence. Or, rather, it isn't. Because the production process bonds so exactly that edges virtually disappear. Giving us the edge.

Invisibly.

colour makes a big comeback.

(in a very 21st Century kind of way).

Most of us can (just about) remember when colour first became a 'thing' in washrooms.

Specifically, the colour that dare not speak its name.

Whisper it....

A...v...o...c...a...d...o...

And since then, perhaps understandably (thanks, avocado!) colour has given way to the mundane and the magnolia.

But now colour is back.

Not with inspiration from the vegetable rack but with a zing!

Because Sylan is putting disciples of dullness firmly in the shade but this time with a sumptuous choice of the thousands of hues in the RAL colour range.*

So, we hear you say, does that include avocad....?

No.

ColourCoat™

With Sylan ColourCoat, we really do, if you'll forgive the lapse into corporate speak, 'have all the bases covered'. So, whether your preference is for a red hot fuchsia or a cooling linen, or whether you feel compelled to pay homage to the strictures of those corporate guidelines, you really can coordinate your cubicles with the other elements of your washroom. Or even, should it come to it, your business card.

ColourCoat™ High Gloss

While ColourCoat comes in a distinctly glossy 20% gloss, our High Gloss variant comes in up to 90% gloss.

Or glossier than the glossiest style mag.

So, as well as selecting from our myriad of shades, you might even feel inclined to wear a pair too.

We all love to experience the wow factor.

The trouble is that, all too often, the wow factor comes with the 'ow' factor of a hefty price tag, turning a nice surprise into a nasty shock.

Not so with a Sylan High Pressure Laminate washroom. HPL's beauty bears the closest scrutiny even with your nose pressed up against the surface. Defying you to determine just how it can be so affordable.

How to handle a high pressure job.

Baldness, bags, wrinkles, unexpected bristly outcrops. We all know how a high pressure job can prematurely age us. Luckily, however (or, rather, entirely by design), durable and easy to clean Sylan High Pressure Laminate features exactly the same high specification door construction as its luxury cousins, with its 44mm high density core, but at a somewhat more forgiving price. Which means that, just like that one colleague (doesn't every company have one?) whose enduring looks attract our admiration and jealousy in equal measure, HPL will withstand the stresses and strains of its own high pressure job quite beautifully. Without a single metaphorical wrinkle.

no evil.

One of Sylan's unique advantages is something, and we almost regret to have to say it, that you won't even see.

Invisible fixings with secure and seamless joints.

Precision pivot hinges provide the heavy door with solid anchor points with a hidden adjustable spring and damper capsule ensuring closure both unrushed and hushed, the flush line and headrail cosying up to within 10mm of the ceiling for complete privacy.

While the rise and fall stainless steel hinges perform their own disappearing act. Tested to at least 100,000 cycles prior to approval, they support over 125kg without the merest squeak of complaint.

So although you might not actually notice the benefits, you're certainly going to appreciate them.

values.

Every corporate has its core values. But our value really does lie in our core. Every single Sylan washroom has high density 680kg m<sup>3</sup> core board at its heart. Providing solidity and stability, giving fixtures and fittings a secure and substantial base to anchor themselves to.

Leaving the shake, rattle and roll to the record deck. While all our high density board cubicle doors and pilasters are at least 42mm thick with 36mm thick divisions.

A core, then, that, we suspect, you'll really come to value.

10

A 10-YEAR
GUARANTEE

(without all the detail in the small print)

You know how it is with guarantees. They're not always quite what they seem. The truth often lies not in the big headline but all the detail in the small print underneath. But not so with Sylan. In this case, for once, we're signally short on detail. Our 10-year guarantee is as solid as our surfaces.

Which is both remarkable and reassuring when you consider the daily drubbing a washroom can receive. So what's lurking beneath our guarantee? No small print. Just our uncompromising attention to detail. And a rock-solid belief in what we do.

A colour swatch of one.

When it comes to our environmental policy, there's only one colour in the range. Green. For example, the beautiful veneers we use are all the more beautiful for being certified by the Forest Stewardship Council®. While we're always looking for new ways to reduce our impact. Burning offcuts to heat our premises, investing in our very own biomass burner while putting an end to our landfill use altogether.

Because, whichever colour you choose for your own environment, our firm belief is that only one colour is suitable for the one we all care about.
