An introduction to Goelst

An introduction to Goelst

Goelst is developer and manufacturer of high quality curtain rail systems for both commercial and domestic projects. We can accommodate all curtain types and installation conditions.

Aside from a range of standard curtain rails, Goelst provides systems for roman blinds, panel curtains, skylights and winter gardens. Systems can be mounted on either wall or ceiling, and can be operated by hand, cord or electrically. The electrically operated products can be integrated with most home-automation systems.

Bespoke products are our forte. If needed, rails are curved by specialists using dedicated Goelst bending equipment, ensuring smooth-running rail systems crafted from a single section of rail.

All Goelst expertise can be found under one roof, including an in-house R&D department and production facilities.

In short, Goelst stands for innovation, customization and high quality. Our products can be found worldwide in hotels, healthcare and educational establishments, offices, cruise ships and private homes.
